Quick hits

1 Almost 70% of UK households now have a smart speaker — but the most common use is still 'asking what time it is'.

Researchers say we under-use the devices we own. Setting timers, playing music and weather queries make up two thirds of all commands.

2 Half of UK adults can't name a single member of the cabinet — but 80% can name three Love Island contestants.

Political engagement researchers say it's not apathy so much as 'noise overload'. People remember faces from things they actively watch.

3 Brits now spend an average of 14 hours a week on streaming — more than cooking, cleaning and exercising combined.

The biggest jump is in the over-55s, who used to be the holdouts for live telly. 'Second-screening' means we pay less attention than ever.

4 The most-Googleed DIY question in Britain this year: 'how to remove silicone'.

Tradespeople say it's the rise of botched bathroom resealing jobs during lockdown that's still haunting people. YouTube tutorials on the topic have racked up 60 million views.

5 Loneliness is now considered a bigger health risk than smoking 15 cigarettes a day, according to NHS England.

Social prescribing — GPs referring patients to community activities — is rolling out nationwide. Walking groups, book clubs and choirs are reportedly oversubscribed.

6 Three quarters of dog owners now talk to their dog more than they talk to their partner.

Top topics: 'what we're doing later', 'what we just saw out the window' and a surprising amount of Bake Off commentary. 12% admit they've apologised to the dog after a row with the human.

7 62% of us have lied about reading a book to look smart in front of someone we fancy.

Most-faked titles: 1984, Pride and Prejudice and (awkwardly) the Bible. One in five admit to faking a whole dinner-party conversation about a novel they'd only seen the cover of.
