Today's top stories

1 Chancellor John Healey has hinted that younger workers might not receive the same minimum wage as others before the next general election.

This suggestion from the Chancellor risks breaking a key promise made by the government regarding the national minimum wage. It's certainly going to spark a lot of debate, especially among younger voters.

POLITICS · UK

2 There are calls for the National Lottery to be included in gambling control schemes, following the tragic death of a father.

A coroner has warned that there's a risk of further deaths unless the lottery is brought under stricter regulations. This raises important questions about support for those affected by gambling.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS · UK

3 A 'greedy' solicitor has been found to have defrauded a cancer charity out of thousands of pounds using fake will-writing invoices.

The money paid to Michael Fogg could have funded 48 biopsies for Cancer Research UK, highlighting the severe impact of such actions. It’s a truly shocking betrayal of trust.

CRIME · UK

4 The King has been seen dancing in the streets of the Bahamas capital during his tour of the Caribbean.

His Majesty is currently on a royal tour, where he has also addressed the 'great suffering of the past'. It sounds like a memorable moment for those who witnessed it.

ROYALTY · INTERNATIONAL

5 Harry Kane has described his Ballon d'Or win as 'a dream come true', making him the first English player to lift the trophy since Michael Owen in 2001.

This is a huge achievement for the England captain and a fantastic moment for English football. It's been a long time coming for an English player to receive this prestigious award.

What's coming up

1 The winners of Celebrity Traitors have expressed their relief that the secret is finally out after the show's nail-biting finale.

The second series of the hit programme attracted a whopping 11.2 million live viewers on Friday night. Everyone was talking about who would be crowned the ultimate Traitor or Faithful!

ON AIR — Were you watching the Celebrity Traitors finale? Who did you want to win?

TV · NOW

2 Plans for a new Brit School North arts college in Bradford have officially been given the green light.

Inspired by the world-famous Brit School in London, this new college will be built right in the heart of Bradford. It's fantastic news for aspiring young performers and artists in the North.

ON AIR — Do you think more specialist arts schools like this are needed across the country?

EDUCATION · FUTURE

3 Actress Gabrielle Creevy has revealed she loved playing 'a very Welsh assassin' in the upcoming spy thriller Black Doves.

She auditioned for the role using her natural Welsh accent, and the production team absolutely loved it. Sounds like a brilliant role and a great showcase for Welsh talent!

ON AIR — What's your favourite spy thriller, or a show where an actor's accent really shines?

FILM & TV · FUTURE

4 Former Top Gear host Richard Hammond is embracing a 'brave' new Welsh life, enjoying wild swimming and running.

Hammond bought a 19th-century Georgian mansion near Abergavenny last November and seems to be loving his new, active lifestyle. It sounds like quite the change of pace!

ON AIR — If you could move anywhere in the UK for a new lifestyle, where would it be and what would you do?

03 — SPORT

On the schedule

1 Estevao Willian brought an 'X-factor' to Chelsea's strikerless side, helping them swing the match in their favour against Manchester United.

Morgan Rogers scored to put Chelsea ahead, but it was Estevao's dazzling performance that truly stood out. It leaves many wondering why he's had such limited action under manager Xabi Alonso this season.

ON AIR — Do you think Estevao should be getting more game time for Chelsea after that performance?

FOOTBALL · UK

2 Jamie Carragher has apologised to Aston Villa for his 'clumsy and wrong' language after linking Unai Emery to the Manchester United job.

Aston Villa had threatened to sue Carragher over his comments, prompting the swift apology. It just goes to show how carefully pundits have to choose their words!

ON AIR — Should pundits be more careful with their speculation, or is it all part of the fun?

FOOTBALL · UK

3 Ryo Hirakawa will be racing for Haas at the Mexico City Grand Prix, stepping in to replace Esteban Ocon.

This is a big opportunity for Hirakawa to make his mark in Formula 1. All eyes will be on him to see how he performs on the track.

ON AIR — Are you excited to see a new face on the F1 grid? Do you think he'll impress?

F1 · INTERNATIONAL

4 New Zealand have delivered a huge statement victory, thrashing Fiji 78-0 to book their place in the Rugby League World Cup semi-finals.

It was an incredibly dominant performance from the Kiwis, showing they are serious contenders for the title. Fiji just couldn't find a way to stop them.

ON AIR — That's quite a scoreline! Do you think New Zealand are now favourites for the World Cup?

RUGBY LEAGUE · INTERNATIONAL

5 Wales completed a WXV double over Japan with a comfortable 29-5 victory, ending their campaign on a high.

It was a strong showing from the Welsh side in Kumagaya City, securing back-to-back wins against Japan. A great way to finish their WXV series.

ON AIR — What do you think this double victory means for Welsh rugby moving forward?
